Summer Vacation

As summer is upon us, it's a good chance to talk about vacations. The church, at least in my experience, hasn't had much to say about vacations. Why should they? Vacations are easy. Vacations are fun. What could the church possible have to say about vacation?

Well, vacations are not always so easy, and the church should have quite a bit to say about them. Many people lead lives that run them so ragged most of the year that when vacations come, all kinds of things come up. From the inability to unwind to arguments that arise, we do well to pay attention to the feelings that arise when we finally take a break. Some people even report experiencing depression or other intense feelings while on vacation.

Going away can open the floodgates on all the things that haven't gotten our attention the rest of the year. As you experience these sometimes rough waters, try not to judge them (or yourself or others), but rather observe them as they flow by. Take note of what's coming up. Set aside some time to attend to it. Recognize that before vacation can fill you up, it has to help you do some important emptying out.

A Hidden Wholeness

A couple weeks ago, my parents took my son on a special summer trip to southern California to visit Universal Studios. When he called the first evening to tell us all about his adventures, I asked what his favorite part about the day had been. I assumed he would say that he enjoyed one of the thrill experiences, such as the Transformers or Jurassic Park rides. Instead, he answered, "I really loved going shopping in the huge candy store!" Hmmm. I then asked what his second favorite part was. He said, "Getting a chocolate frog at the Harry Potter store."

I found myself a bit disappointed by his answers. My parents could have avoided the whole Universal Studios trip and just taken him to the mall! I quickly realized, however, that I was putting my expectations on him. I love thrill rides, so I thought he should love thrill rides. But he was certain about his preferences ... candy before thrills! He loved being able to buy butter beer from Harry Potter's Hogsmeade, and you certainly can't do that at the mall.

Summer Vacation CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 It's understandable—the rhythm is different, it's hard to find a church in short order in a new place, and who wants to bring nice clothes to the beach?

Whether or not we go to church when we leave town, we don't have to leave sustaining spiritual practices behind. You can access a Bible from any phone. How about reading a psalm or other passage every day? Download "Daily Prayer PC(USA)" or "Book of Common Prayer, School for Conversion" from the app store for daily readings/ prayers. What about spending ten minutes every morning in quiet prayer or prayerful listening, using a journal if helpful? Make it a mealtime ritual to share what you're grateful for.

In an increasingly mobile society, when people spend many Sundays away from their home church, we at Westminster are thinking of ways to better serve you when it must be from afar. Our new web site affords us a much better platform than before. We are hoping to make available to you videos, helpful guides, and other resources to support you in your journey.

As you spend time away, let us know what would be helpful for us to help you with, so that we might continue to grow as a community of faith, grounded in Christ, no matter where our travels take us.

> God's Peace, Rob rob@wpctiburon.org

A Hidden Wholeness CONTINUED FROM PG 1 Once I set aside my own expectations about his trip, I realized that he had experienced a wonderfully fun day.

In his book A Hidden Wholeness, author and teacher Parker Palmer notes that children are usually very connected with the "core of their pure beings"—their souls. They know exactly who they are, and that is the self they show to the world. My son, for example, did not care that he was "supposed" to go on rides at Universal Studios. He knew that his joy would come from shopping.

However, says Palmer, as we "become more obsessed with succeeding, or at least surviving, in the world, we lose touch with our souls and disappear into our roles." We begin to act based on how we think the world wants us to act. We begin to make decisions based on the expectations that others have for us. Often, we either consciously or unconsciously erect a barrier between our inner truth and our outer lives.

What would it take for you to tear down that barrier? What would it take for you to be your authentic self in all aspects of your life? What would it take for you to listen to God's voice when you make decisions about who and what you will be in the world, rather than the many other voices telling you all of their opinions about your life?

The Psalmist reminds us that God has searched us and knows us (Psalm 139:1). No matter what self we show to the world, God knows our souls. God loves our souls. May we have the courage to share our souls with the world. Blessings, Bethany bethany@wpctiburon.org

Seafarers Ministry

As a SFTS MDiv. student and new WPC member, I would like to tell you about the Seafarers Ministry of Golden Gate at the Port of Oakland, where I am a summer intern.

The Seafarer's Ministry began in the 1800s. Over 1.5 million seafarers bring goods and services to America from around the world. At the International Maritime Center, we provide prayer services, eucharistic services, seafarer respite and hospitality, internet service, local rides and more to seafarers who may not have seen their families for many months. In my first three days, I met seafarers from India, the Philippines, Bangladesh, Germany, Russia and Taiwan.

I encourage you to visit the center and also to volunteer there. Weekday hours are 10 am-10 pm. The public is also invited to worship and events. Please join me at an upcoming service and boat tour (details on page 5). Thank you for your interest.

Art Wall

David Pittle's exhibit remained up longer so it could be enjoyed during the celebration of his 50th Anniversary of Ordination. Elizabeth Merriman's will be our next exhibit.

Elizabeth began painting in 1994 and has studied under several accomplished artists, learning to combine the translucency of watercolor with bright bold color. Since 2011 she has painted in an artistic journal which allows her to "just have fun" and document her days. Please pause to take in the joy that exudes from her work.

Send comments/questions directly to ebmerriman@blogspot.com. Contact kp@kpherbert.com if you are interested in sharing your art with WPC. Katharine Purdy Herbert

From Loving Creation Eco-Fair

Loving Creation and Spiritual Life Commission are planning an Eco-Fair for Sunday, September 24. The event will be similar in format to the Alternative Christmas Fair, with staffed booths. Loving Creation is now soliciting booths and participation by those with expertise or interest. Preliminary booth ideas:

- cooking and eating vegetarian
- worm composting
- grey water made easy
- green investing
- solar panels
- electric car experience/options
- non-toxic gardening methods.

Eco-Fair booth leaders will "kick off" with one-minute overviews and then attendees will have 45 minutes to move around and ask questions.

Summer Music

For the 12 weeks that the choir is on hiatus, we are blessed to have wonderful, talented members and friends providing music in worship. Thanks be to God!

In June, Alla Artemova-Helton showcased her piano skills, and Paige Petrini sang her repertoire's favorites.

July Sundays will feature: tenor Jim Armington singing a Pavel Tschesnekoff classic; singer/guitarist Megan Bartschat; the Bay Area sarod expert Sangita Moskow singing original works she accompanies with the modern North Indian 25-stringed electric lute; bass Jim Kamphoefner and a bluegrass quartet: RuthE. and Clark, RuthE's sister & brother-in-law.

August features the debut of a newly formed men's quartet (Jim Armington, Peter Sayers, Clark Smith and Jim Kamphoefner) singing some rousing spirituals, and Dominic DeQuattro gracing us with the classic "Panis Angelicus." Nancy Leung will play Vivaldi flute Concerto in F, and Labor Day weekend Japanese shakuhachi master Elliot Kallen returns with the ethereal sounds of his bamboo flute. High school youth will perform on August 27 as part of their mission trip report.

The ministry of The Word continues all summer long, as does our vibrant music program. We hope the variety adds to your worship experience.

Soli Deo Gloria, (glory to God alone) RuthE. ruthe.wells@gmail.com

Director of Youth Ministry Jeff Shankle

San Diego Every Year This summer our high schoolers and adult leaders will be going to San Diego for the first of an indefinite number of annual mission trips. While the church will continue to respond to disasters or other issues that may arise (i.e., Hurricane Katrina) we felt it was necessary to begin to invest in a community for the long term.

By focusing on a single community, we're better able to meet needs that require relationship building over time. Imagine how much more we can learn from a child after seeing them grow over the course of four years. What about the people faithfully running the soup kitchen?

We want the people and charities that we collaborate with to know they can count on us. This will allow them to plan their own calendars more efficiently, knowing that every summer there will be an influx of volunteers who have experience.

We could spend $2,000/person going to Haiti to rebuild a home, or we could do nothing and send them a check. Having a conversation about what's best is always a healthy one. For now, we've decided that the church, including its youth, will continue to travel to faraway places when we feel called. But for many reasons, we feel compelled to let the people of San Diego know that we're going to be there for them. As a group representing Jesus Christ, we want people to know that they will not be forgotten come fall. We want to be able to say, "we'll see you again... and again and again." Ieff

Summer Sundays

I hope you are all having a wonderful summer season!

Westminster has adopted a "Safe Church Policy" that we will begin implementing this fall. All of our Sunday School teachers and youth program volunteers will be trained in the policy and will undergo a background check. While "best practices" are already in place, this more formal program will continue to ensure the spiritual, emotional and physical safety of all our children and youth.

Our one-room Sunday School for preschoolers through 5th graders will continue throughout July and August. We will hear some great stories from the Hebrew Bible about people such as Queen Esther, Jeremiah and Jonah. We will also learn about Jesus' encounters with Mary, Martha, Zacchaeus and Nicodemus.

As always, please feel free to contact me if you have any questions. Cindy cblightfoot@sbcglobal.net

Safe Church Training Sunday, August 27

11:15 am, Fireside Room

If you are planning to work with our children or youth in the upcoming year, please plan to attend this important training. We will share insights and wisdom about caring for the well-being of our young people. See Jeff with questions.
